Black Lives Matter social media posts, protests, and marches in the street, Zoom book clubs, and lots of conversations with friends and family – the racial reckoning in our country has many of us engaging in this national conversation like never before.

But what's next?

The ART of Inclusive Communication 2.0 is an interactive, dialogue focused workshop, where we take a deeper dive into how we can all be actively working to make our communication, our lives, and our organizations more inclusive and anti-racist.

Training provided by the National Conflict Resolution Center.
